With the many improvements which have been made in the National Guard of late there has still been found room for one more. This is the appointment of a chaplain, and the souls of the men, as well as the manner in which they drill, will soon be a matter of attention. While no order has been issued in regard to the matter as yet it has practically been decided that the First Regiment should have a chaplain and it seems likely that the cloak of the office will fall on the shoulders of the Reverend Simpson of the Anglican church of this city.

POST OFFICE INSPECTOR

MADEIRA ON TRANSPORT

There are a number of people well known in Honolulu on the Thomas. Postoffice Inspector W. L. Madeira, accompanied by Mrs. Madeira, are passengers on board the transport, and are en route to the island of Guam.

Inspector Madeira has been specially detailed by the Postoffice General to investigate the postal service at Guam, with a view of bettering the same. Both Mr. and Mrs. Madeira are well known in Hawaii. Mr. Madeira having served as assistant postmaster at Honolulu for two years under the administration of former postmaster Joseph M. Oat, and as postmaster at Hilo for three years. He was appointed a postoffice inspector while holding the latter position, and was detailed at St. Louis, Mo., for two years, but is now connected with the San Francisco Division of Postoffice Inspectors. Mr. and Mrs. Madeira will go on to Manila from Guam by transport Sherman, which follows the Thomas in April.

Judge Robinson also came in on the boat. He was about the happiest man in the land when his feet touched the soil of old Hawaii. "Say, I haven't had my feet warm since I left the country," he cried. "When it comes to a fine place to live, there is no place like this country. I certainly am glad to get back."

Among the others who stop off here are 15 marines for the local corps, 9 blue-jackets, 43 men for the 20th Infantry, and two from the 9th Cavalry who will go to the local marine hospital. They are sick with la grippe.

China and Japan Are Discussing Tatsu Affair

PEKIN, China, March 11.—Negotiations between the Chinese and Japanese Governments over the Tatsu Maru are proceeding on the basis that Japan will take steps to stop the further importation of arms into China from Japan for the arming of the Chinese revolutionists.

While admitting that she was wrong in lowering the Japanese flag from the captured vessel and hoisting her own flag in its place, China claims throughout the negotiating that she has the right to confiscate vessels carrying arms and their cargoes.

TO INVESTIGATE STOCK GAMBLING

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11.—President Roosevelt has ordered an investigation to be made into the general question of stock-dealing, now that legislation eliminating the gambling features of stock manipulations is being proposed.

More than a dozen bills framed to limit speculation in the stock and commodity exchanges by forbidding short selling and transactions in futures have been introduced during the present session of Congress, the principal one being by Congressman Hepburn.

of the people here until it could be known definitely what the plans were.

"The matter of coastwise laws was also taken up at the same meeting and it was voted as the sense of the meeting that the Chamber of Commerce be requested to take immediate action in concert with other local organizations toward securing from the present Congress such action as would be most favorable for Hawaii.

"Respectfully submitted,
"E. J. LOWREY,
"L. T. PECK,
"ALLEN W. T. BOTTOMLEY."

Lowrey said that the provision of the coastwise shipping bill which made the new act imperative when a new line of at least three steamers was established between the Coast and Hawaii, was not a very pleasing one, and he moved "That the President of this Chamber be requested to ask, with the President of the Merchants' Association and the chairman of the Promotion Committee in calling to Washington urging the passing of the bill relating to the carrying of passengers on foreign vessels for a definite number of years or pending future action of Congress."

Giffard voted against the resolution, saying that he thought the action to provide exceptions in favor of non-American vessels was un-American. It was, he said, not a favorable time to urge such a measure, since the ship subsidy bill was now being pushed.

MEASLES AND MUMPS ON BOAT

Quarantine Was Feared

But Restrictions Are Removed

A great cheer burst from the throats of over a thousand soldiers boys on the transport Thomas this morning outside the harbor when the yellow flag denoting that the boat was in quarantine was pulled down. Everyone feared that the boat would be in strict quarantine all during its stay in this port, and the joy was great when it was found out that the hooloo had been removed.

The boys who work for Uncle Sam like their little vacations whenever they can get them, and transport stopovers usually afford them the best kind of an opportunity for a good time. Measles and mumps combined, and several cases of each, were the cause of all the alarm among the boys in blue. The doctors found out that there was no further danger from the contagious diseases, and they therefore declared the quarantine off.

There are, besides the notables on the transport, about 1350 enlisted men. There are 56 officers and 57 civilians on board. The Thomas will probably remain here until Monday, though she may be able to get away Saturday afternoon. This is left with the Port Quartermaster, Captain Humphreys.

Twelve hundred tons of coal will be taken aboard the transport here. She carried United States mail, two days later than the previous boat.

The wireless operators of the Sherman and the Thomas were in speaking distance of each other for a couple of days and passed compliments back and forth. One wireless pointed on the bulletin board of the Thomas reads as follows: "Regards to the good old Fourth." The 24th infantry company is on board the Thomas. This message is similar to the others sent out between the two boats.

COUNTERFEITERS

ing the desired effect and heavier sentences may be expected for this crime from now on.

Ah Pa, who pleaded guilty to a charge of illicit distilling, was sentenced to spend six months in jail and pay a fine of $500, as well as the costs. The same sentence was given to his partner in crime, Ah Sal Nui, who pleaded guilty a like offense, got off a little easier, being given three months and a fine of $100.

The sentence of Moses Lono was continued till tomorrow morning. Daisy Wagner changed her plea of not guilty to one of guilty on the charge of adultery, and Albert Truegood, connected in the same case, also pleaded guilty. M. J. Coito, charged with carrying on a liquor business without a Federal license, pleaded not guilty. The plea of Pala on the same charge was continued till tomorrow.

The converted yacht Hiet is stranded at Cove Point, Chesapeake Bay, while the Viper, a submarine, continues to stick fast in South river, ten miles from Annapolis.

to which he was only able to go on Saturday and Sunday. His claim is that he resides on the homestead, while the Land Commissioner claims that his residence is in Hilo, where he spends the larger part of his time.

Douglas H. Riker, a New York publisher, ill in bed with pneumonia, battled for life with an infuriated bulldog. He finally smothered the animal in the bedclothes.

ARCTIC EXPLORER

I am now on a leave of absence and have plenty of time. No, I don't want to talk anything about my Arctic experiences. I am about through with anything of that kind."

The General is well on in years, but he is as straight and commanding-looking as he was when he headed great expeditions that dared death in the perils of the North. He will be placed on the retired list of Army officers soon, probably before he returns from his trip.
